PICK SOX TO BEAT GIANTS IN SERIES

All New England is ablaze with enthusiasm over the chances of the Boston Red Sox. It is taken for granted in that part of the country that the Sox will take part in the world's series and that the Giants will be their opponents. A well known baseball critic who looks through Boston glasses sizes up the Sox and the Giants in this manner:

"Assuming that McGraw and Stahl are to be rival commanders in the world's series the only advantage that Graw will have is gray matter. McGraw as a tactician lays far over the Boston leader. Joe Wood in his present form and Ray Collins aging at top speed will match Mathewson and Marquard. Charley Hall will be more valuable to the Red Sox than Crandall to the Giants. Hendrickson and Jack O'Brien are better than Tesreau and Ames or Wiltse. Behind the bat New York will have an advantage, as Meyers excels Carrigan, though not by a great deal. The infields are about a toss up, but in the outfield the Boston trio—Hooper, Speaker and Lewis —far outclass Murray, Becker and Snodgrass. Both teams are well fixed in substitutes, but the Sox will depend wholly upon their regulars. Boston ought to win five of the seven games."

SILENT TEWANIMA HOME HEARTBROKEN

Heartbroken because of his failure to win the Marathon run in the Swedish Olympiad, after four years of preparation, Lewis Tewanima, the greatest of the many Hopi Indian runners, will not return to the Carlisle Indian School, instead he left for his home in Arizona yesterday.

Tewanima, poorly advised and injured from falls sustained in practice jaunts, finished ninth in the Marathon in the English Olympiad in 1908. To the Indian and his adviser, Glen Warner, this was proof that the little Hopi was the best man in the race, and with the mistakes of this race at hand the great-hearted runner's preparations to land the race just won by the South American policeman, Mr. Arthur. But this time Lewis was right: in fact, never was he better in life, and yet the best he could do was seventeenth place.

Discouraged in a mild word when the making of the feelings of the breast little Indian runner. He looked like the best bet on the American team. So it is back to Arizona for Lewis just as soon as he gets a good look at t bright lights of Broadway.

ZINN REPEATS TO PLAY WITH ROCHESTER TEAM

Rochester, N. Y., August 29.—Outfielder Zinn, who played with the Red Birds in 1910, arrived here this morning. As a result Manager Wolverton, of the York, sent here Outfielder Smith, recently purchased by the Yankees from the Brockton club of the New England League. Smith played against Jersey City yesterday, making three hits, scoring two runs and batting in three other runs. Zinn has been released by Rochester. Jersey City was defeated yesterday, 7 to 3.

FOOTBALL RULES ALTER 1912 GAME

Changes Expected to Make the Play Much Faster This Year.

COACHES GET READY

The football season of 1912 promises to be in the fastest of years. The majority of college teams have a finishing success about which to round out a gridiron machine. The changes in the rules have a tendency toward making the game faster and more open, than ever and at the same time eliminate as much as possible the tie scores which were so unsatisfactory in a number of championship games last fall.

Perhaps the most vital of these changes is the increasing of the number of downs to gain ten yards from the three of previous years to four. Although the forward pass will be just as much of a factor as ever, and more so in all likelihood the increase in the downs by one will bring forth long passes on second and third down. Men of the type of Coy, of Yale; Hare, of Pennsylvania; De Witt, of Princeton, and Horr, of Syracuse, will be needed in the backfield and line. The man who can open a hole for his backs will be the man who will have the call over the wiry chap of the last few seasons.

Another ruling that will make the game more open is that which abolishes the 25-yard zone which formerly governed the forward pass. This fall a back can send a spiral from his hands half the distance of the field if he chooses and the ball will settle in the arms of a waiting player. This will afford more than one sensation during the coming season no doubt. Should a man of the greyhound type of Spieral, of Lafayette, Prediston, of Princeton, Irick, of Cornell, or White, of Princeton, slip one of these lengthy ones with the field behind him it would be a mighty hard one to run down for a mark, but, it is safe to venture, a futile one.

Another change with a view to eliminating the value of a field goal is the advancing of the value of a touchdown from five to six points, with the goal from the touchdown and other goals remaining as before.

The rules have been taken away with entirely. As was expected, the bunching of the ball over the goal post such as figured in the Cornell-Syracuse game last year, shall not count a score.

The interval between the quarters is reduced from five minutes to two, with the time between the halves remaining the same.

Minor changes, such as the shortening of the playing field from 110 yards to 100 yards, the putting of the ball on the 20-yard line rather than the 25, when the occasion requires, kicking off from the 40-yard line rather than the 35, as formerly, completes the new rulings.

At this stage in the game it would be a hard matter to attempt to pick all-American material, but there is one gridiron warrior who will probably stand alone as a backfield man. This is Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle captain and halfback. Thorpe is in the prime of condition following his training and victories as a member of the American Olympic team. Thorpe declares that he will take a rest for a month and then enter into the pick of Coach Glenn Warner for the red-skin season.

"Bob" Herrer, the lightning halfback and leader of Penn's 1911 team, should be a star of the first water. Last year he was conceded to be the slipperiest man on the field despite the fact that "Al" Thorpe ranged him as a member of his all-American eleven.

An attractive double-header has been arranged for Ruopp's grounds on Saturday afternoon, with the Cadets and Gaze teams as the principal opponents. These two teams are recorded along-with the fastest in the city, and that a good contest will ensue goes without saying.

At 2 o'clock the Ruopp's and Overcoats will meet in a preliminary game. Manager Schuh has a formidable battery for the Cadets in the second contest, while Rhoads will probably do the twirling for the Gazes.

LIVED ON ROOTS

Newark Man, Alleged Murderer, Was Wild Man in Woods Near Phila.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—A man found two weeks ago eating leaves and roots in Smith's woods, near Frankford, has been identified as Francisco Rossi, Newark, N. J., wanted in Norwood, Mass., for the murder of a man August 11.

He was arraigned in the Central Station today and placed in the charge of James J. Lavery, chief of police of Norwood, who will take him back to that town for trial.

When Rossi was found he was so weak from lack of nourishment that he could scarcely stand, and the police believe his mind is unbalanced.

When the man was arrested it was not suspected that he was wanted for murder. For one week the man had been seen in the vicinity of the woods, and children called him the "wild man."

Yesterday, Emanuel, a detective, looked over the records in search of a man who answered the description of Rossi, and he was rewarded by finding the communication from the Norwood police. The description of the man wanted for murder tallies exactly with that of Rossi.

The man alleged to have been murdered by Rossi was Vincenzo di Stephano. According to the police, the two men became engaged in a fight over a game of cards and Stephano was stabbed.

In a moment fists were flying and the two men were on the floor. Several policemen rushed into the room and brought the fight to a close. Both men then swore out a warrant for Morrell, who was held under $500 bail for the Grand Jury.

During the scene Miss Emerson and her mother, Mrs. Caroline Emerson, were huddled in a corner. Miss Emerson was greatly upset, and said she was the victim of the wild imagination of the Texan. Morrell, she said, had accused her of taking the money simply because they had been talking together.
